

Recognizing Who Died For You

How we can respond to the Jesus who died in our place and rose again

PART 1 – The Death of a Substitute

Jesus died in my place

When we recognize that Jesus died as a substitute, we discover the following:

- Jesus did not deserve death.
- Jesus chose death.
- Jesus died because of me.
- I killed Him.
- Jesus was pleased to go through with it because of what He could gain.

PART 2 – The Result of Substitution

Jesus died so I don't need to

When we recognize why Jesus died as a substitute, we discover the following:

- God will have justice, but He wants mercy for me.
- Jesus took the punishment away from me.
- All who believe in Jesus as their substitute will receive mercy.

PART 3 – The Value of Resurrection

I know that I have forever

When we recognize that the one who died as our substitute also rose again, we discover the following:

- We are confident in Jesus as a substitute in death.
- We are confident in Jesus as a pattern of life.
- Death is no longer dangerous.

If you have recognized who died for you, respond with faith

If you have recognized who died for you, respond with worship

“I Stand Redeemed”

At the dawn of eternity
When the mist of time is gone
When the choir of Heaven gathers
To begin redemption's song,
I will bow before my Savior
In a body new and whole.
Then I'll rise to sing His praises
While eternal ages roll.

As I gaze upon my Savior
At the wounds He bore for me,
I will sing of His salvation
Bought with blood upon the tree.
While the host of angels listen
to a song they cannot sing,
I will voice my praise to Jesus
With the song of the redeemed.

I stand redeemed
By the blood of Jesus.
The price is paid.
My debt is gone.
The chains that bound me
No longer hold me.
Because of Calv'ry
I stand redeemed.
