Romans 7:7-25

A legitimate question: What shall we say then? Is the law sin? (7:7a)

A definite answer: Certainly not! (7:7b)

A theological explanation: On the contrary, I would not have known sin except through the law. (7:7c)

A perfect example – the prohibition of the sin of coveting (7:7d -11)

- a. The purpose of the Law: For I would not have known covetousness unless the law had said, "You shall not covet." (7:7c)
- b. The provocation of the Law: But sin, taking opportunity by the commandment, produced in me all manner of evil desire. (7:8a)
- c. The practical result of the Law: For apart from the law sin was dead. I was alive once without the law, but when the commandment came, sin revived and I died. (7:8b – 9)
- d. The personal frustration with the Law: And the commandment, which was to bring life, I found to bring death. (7:10)
- e. The personal testimony regarding the Law: For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it killed me. (7:11)

A doctrinal conclusion: Therefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good. (7:12)

Another logical question: Has then what is good become death to me? (7:13a)

Another dogmatic answer: Certainly not! (7:13b)

Another theological explanation: But sin, that it might appear sin, was producing death in me through what is good, so that sin through the commandment might become exceedingly sinful. (7:13c)

Another personal testimony: For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin. (7:14)
